Digital Sunset Checklist — Weeknight

Name: _____ Date: _____

Tick each step as you do it. The goal is a calm, repeatable last hour — not a perfect one. Adjust the times to your life and keep the order.

- [ ] Phone on charge outside the bedroom (or across the room)
- [ ] Tablet, laptop and TV off or closed
- [ ] Bright overhead lights off; lamps only
- [ ] Tomorrow's clothes and bag ready
- [ ] Doors checked, house settled for the night
- [ ] Notepad by the bed for parked thoughts
- [ ] Alarm set — then no more clock-watching
- [ ] A pleasant, low-key activity chosen (book, music, stretch)

Anything that kept pulling me back to a screen

Digital Sunset Checklist — Weekend

Name: _____ Date: _____

Weekends run later for most people; the ritual still works. Keep the same order, shift the times, and protect the screens-off step — it does the most work.

- [ ] Bright overhead lights off; lamps only

Pre-Sleep Relaxation: Body Scan & Slow Breathing

Name: _____ Date: _____

Lie in bed or sit comfortably. Breathe slowly: in for a count of 4, out for a count of 6, for about two minutes. Then move your attention slowly from feet to head, relaxing each part as you pass it. Stop if anything feels uncomfortable, and simply breathe normally.

Body scan checklist (move slowly, tick as you go)

- ☐ Feet and legs — let them feel heavy
- ☐ Hands and arms — unclench, soften
- ☐ Shoulders and jaw — drop them on an out-breath
- ☐ Face and forehead — smooth and slack
- ☐ Whole body — one slow breath, then rest

Last line before lights out
